From the Assistant Principal of Student Life

Debi Turner '96
Assistant Principal of Student Life

This past month, our school conducted an intruder drill in partnership with the St. Charles Police Department. I want to recognize our students and teachers for their attention and focus during this exercise; they approached it with the utmost seriousness, and the officers remarked on their impressive level of engagement. In addition, two undercover police officers attempted to gain access to the building but were stopped each time by our students and staff, who promptly denied entry. It was a reassuring display of vigilance and care from everyone involved.

While I'm heartened by our community's readiness, I can't help but feel saddened that this is the reality we live in—that our schools need to prepare for unthinkable situations. A few months ago, I sat down with a group of students to discuss their top concerns for our school community. To my surprise, their priority was overwhelmingly focused on school safety. At one of our recent All School Masses, I overheard a student quietly say, "I'm not leaving my phone in the classroom. What if there's a school shooting?" The statement struck me; this is their reality, and it's something that affects them deeply, whether they talk about it openly or not.

Our students are facing challenges we couldn't have imagined at their age. They carry burdens we may not always see, and their resilience and courage continue to inspire us all. Let's continue supporting them as they navigate this complicated world with hope, strength, and compassion. It takes a village...

Congratulations to our students that earned Latin Honor in the first semester of the 2024-25 school year. Keep up the great work!

Return of the Swifties!

On October 18, over 100 young dancers clad in pink, led by the Duchesne Diamondline Dance Team, took to the field at Frank Barro Stadium to show off their moves and true Swiftie spirit.

This is the second year that the “Friday Night Lights (Taylor’s Version)” halftime show entertained those in attendance at Duchesne and gave girls from pre-kindergarten through eighth grade the chance to perform with the high school dance team. Diamondline Coach Anita Borgmeyer ’97 and dance-mom Dana Buckner worked hard to plan the event.

“There are so many great things about this event,” said Coach Borgmeyer. “Sharing our love of dance and school spirit is really important! Seeing the kids have so much fun with our team and performing for their family and friends is great!”

Participating dancers learned the routine that night with Diamondline members guiding them through each step—no small feat considering the large number of children and the tight time limit.

“I couldn’t do it without the other girls on the team!” said senior Diamondline Captain Maggie Schneider. “The girls listened so well and did a great job picking up the choreography!”

“We had all the girls spread out through the PAC,” said Maeve McCune, a freshman member of Diamondline. “They were quick learners and did a fabulous job on the field! The Diamondline definitely has a bright future!”

Although many of the young performers also attended dance camp this summer, plenty of new faces were on campus that night. Borgmeyer encourages all girls interested to join in the fun.

“If parents and their kids want to get involved in the future, the best way is to follow Duchesne on social media and sign up for our newsletter so they see the signup information for future Diamondline events,” she said.

With another successful event in the books, Coach Borgmeyer thinks this may become a yearly tradition at Duchesne.

“It brings kids out to Duchesne and gives them a fun opportunity to engage with our Diamondline Dance Team and cheer on our sports teams! In addition, we love to show younger kids and families how great our Duchesne community is!”

Catch "The Bookstore" Nov. 14–16

Two faculty are making their Duchesne directorial debut with this fall's presentation of "The Bookstore" by Adam Szymkowicz.

Andrew Sweeso '17 and Brad Benne '03 are no strangers to the performing arts at Duchesne. Both teachers were involved in the program as students, with Mr. Benne remembering the thrill of being on stage.

"It's surreal being back here and directing," he said. "It's a lot more than I thought it would be, meaning there are so many moving pieces and things to think about — but I am enjoying it all so far!"

Although it's his first production at DHS, Mr. Benne gained experience in the director's chair during two shows while teaching at St. Joseph School in Cottleville.

"I am looking forward to the student actors' reaction when all is said and done," said Mr. Benne. "It is neat to see them put so much time and work into creating characters and the overall production. I am excited for them to see the final result."

Andrew Sweeso's first step into the drama department was as a newly hired faculty member last year as moderator for the spring student-directed one-act shows. He looks forward to shaking things up a bit with this year's play selection.

"I chose 'The Bookstore' because our students expressed a desire for something new," he said. "I felt this play's themes and diverse range of characters suited our cast quite well. I'm also a bit of a sentimental sap deep down, so when I found a romantic comedy set in a bookstore, I had to pick it!"

The "Bookstore" follows Rachel, a twenty-something working a high-pressure editing job in New York City, when she inherits her Great-Aunt Ida's whimsical, maybe even magical bookstore in New England. When real estate magnate Max Brewer offers to buy out the store, Rachel is faced with a difficult decision: does she sell the store and follow her dreams, or does she keep it alive and, with it, the magic and romance that flourishes inside?

The show features 13 players, some taking on multiple roles.

"I am so grateful to be performing my last play, 'The Book Store,' as the lead," said senior Hannah Rimmey. "I'm excited to put on an unforgettable performance for one of my last leading roles. It is rewarding to realize how I've grown and become more confident over the years in not just my acting but myself."

Sweeso said this show is a student production through and through.

"Every aspect of this show - the characters and blocking and dialogue, the costumes, the set, the tech, the publicity - bears these students' fingerprints," he said. "I'm excited for them to feel the reward of putting together a successful show."

"The show brings to life a magical story about hopeless romance," adds Hannah, "Get ready to laugh because it definitely has its comedic moments!"

See the show on November 14-16 at 7 p.m. in the PAC. Admission is ten dollars.

Duchesne weight room gets much-needed upgrade

It is an upgrade that has been in the works for a year and is now complete. The athletics program at Duchesne now boasts a new state-of-the-art weight room and training center.

The new weight room offers eight new power racks, new weights, twelve new bars, storage, and accessory machines. The floors and lighting were replaced, and the walls were given a fresh coat of paint.

Duchesne Head Football Coach Vince Morris said that not only is the weight room more efficient and modern, but it is also much safer.

"The machines were old and falling apart," he said. "It also was a poor use of space, limiting the number of athletes you could safely train to about 12 at a time with a minimal accounting of work, whereas now we can accommodate 24-32 very easily with a much more efficient use of time."

The students couldn't agree more.

"The quality of the new equipment surpasses expectations, and I'm very excited to use it," said senior athlete Logan Murrish. "I think this weight room will help take our athletics program to the next level."

"The new weight room is a great improvement from what we previously had," adds senior Sam Jost. "It allows for more athletes to work out at the same time and for us to be able to do movements we couldn't do before."

The project cost about $100,000 and was made possible by a generous donor. In July of 2023, another donation paid for the addition new weight racks. Lifetime Fitness/Hammer Strength accommodated both projects.

"The only other school in St. Charles County that focuses so heavily on the top-of-the-line equipment is Lindenwood University," added Morris.

"This investment reflects our commitment to supporting [our students'] growth both on and off the field," said Duchesne Athletic Director Renee Moore '86. "Thank you to Coach Morris for his efforts in the project and all of our donors who made this facility a reality."

The weight room will be featured heavily in upcoming tours of Duchesne. It is an impressive addition to an ever-growing list of changes and facility improvements at the school, giving its student-athletes an edge as they train for high school sports and beyond.

We hope to surpass $300,000 this year.

Help us keep that momentum going with a gift to Duchesne during our 2024 iGiveCatholic campaign. Advanced giving starts on Monday, November 18, and the campaign culminates on Giving Tuesday, December 3. ALUMNI FEATURES AND UPDATES

From Dream to Reality

How a Duchesne alumna created a Garden Get-Away on campus

If you walk the halls of Duchesne, you'll eventually come to a courtyard area in the center of the school. A winding stone path connects the north and south sides of the building. A fountain marks the center, surrounded by stone walls and a paver patio inscribed with the names of donor families. Solar-powered lights line the path and hang suspended above, bathing the space in a soft glow in the evenings.

This was all just an idea eight years ago, the vision of Duchesne alumna Jen (Horton) Silvestri '86. Thanks to her, the class of 1986, and her close friends and family, it's now a reality. A once empty grassy lot has transformed into a peaceful retreat space for students to enjoy and a new staple of events on campus.

The seeds for this transformation were planted in Jen's mind during a reunion tour in 2016. As the reunion planner, she organized a school tour for those classmates who had not been on campus in a while. They were impressed by the updates at that time, notably the then-new gym, but she froze when she walked past the door to the center courtyard.

The space just seemed to looked a bit bare. The tour continued, but her mind was still on that lot.

"I couldn't get it off my mind," she said.

Her thoughts went to the campus of her daughter's high school, Bishop Gorman High School in Las Vegas.

"[Their] campus is gorgeous with stone, statues, and this peacefulness you get when you walk around," said Jen. "Even if my high school could have a piece of that feeling, that would be incredible."

That became her key motivation. In a world where students have to deal with the stresses of social media, COVID-19, and all the pressures of school, there was a clear need for a place of respite where students could find that same peacefulness found when walking through any beautiful place.

Jen recruited classmates and friends Cheryl (Pollack) Johnson and Chrissy (Podhorsky) Kuhlmann and the rest of the class of '86. With their help and the help of her family, Jen's vision was underway.

"When Jen brought up the idea for the garden project, I was immediately on board," said Chrissy. "We discussed her vision and the possibilities, and then we quickly went about setting a plan in motion. Jennifer is a force of nature who can challenge and inspire others. She brought together a small team of people that truly believed in the project and what the garden would bring to Duchesne — to both its students and alumni."

The initial concept was drawn up by Jim Pollack '85, Cheryl's bother. As a landscape architect, Jim was well suited for creating the early drawings of a whimsical, windy path and fountain. Jen also found inspiration in pictures of meditation gardens. A rendering of the space was made, and it went on easels at Duchesne events.

Contractors were brought in. Fundraisers were planned. Things were moving forward — then came Covid.

Jen (Horton) Silvestri '86 with husband, Jeff.

The over doubling of labor and materials costs was a significant bump in the road, requiring a shifting of contractors and problem-solving. Jen did not let this stop the momentum.

"We were not stopping," she said. "We pulled together and kept plugging along to make it work."

Her classmates rallied to raise the funds. Family and friends who didn't attend Duchesne but believed strongly in the project gave generously. Jen searched for a new contractor, eventually finding and hiring Jordan Buenemann.

Finally, on October 6, 2023, the new Garden Courtyard was revealed to Pioneer Nation with a ribbon cutting and special blessing by Father Chris Holtmann, Duchesne chaplain.

Throughout the process, Jen recalls the help of one particular Duchesne alumna and staff member who was especially important in finishing the space — Duchesne Director of Alumni Engagement and Donor Engagement Nancy (Rothermich) Kohl '78.

As a sounding board for ideas and a major conduit of communication with the alumni of Pioneer Nation, Jen can't thank Nancy enough for her tireless involvement.

"Nancy's been amazing," said Jen. "She's been holding my hand through the whole thing. We were constantly texting about it and different things. She's been phenomenal."

"Jen Silvestri's passion for and dedication to this project are an inspiring example of the love and support our alumni have shown Duchesne," said Nancy. "Through delays and significant price increases during our worst COVID years, Jen persevered and made the Garden project a reality. We are excited about planning events in the Garden Courtyard for our alumni and parents as well as students, both present and past."

"All of the alumni, friends, and family who volunteered and donated to the project created a beautiful addition to our school that we can all take great pride in," said Chrissy. "I'm so appreciative of all those that donated to make this possible and for Jen for being the driving force."

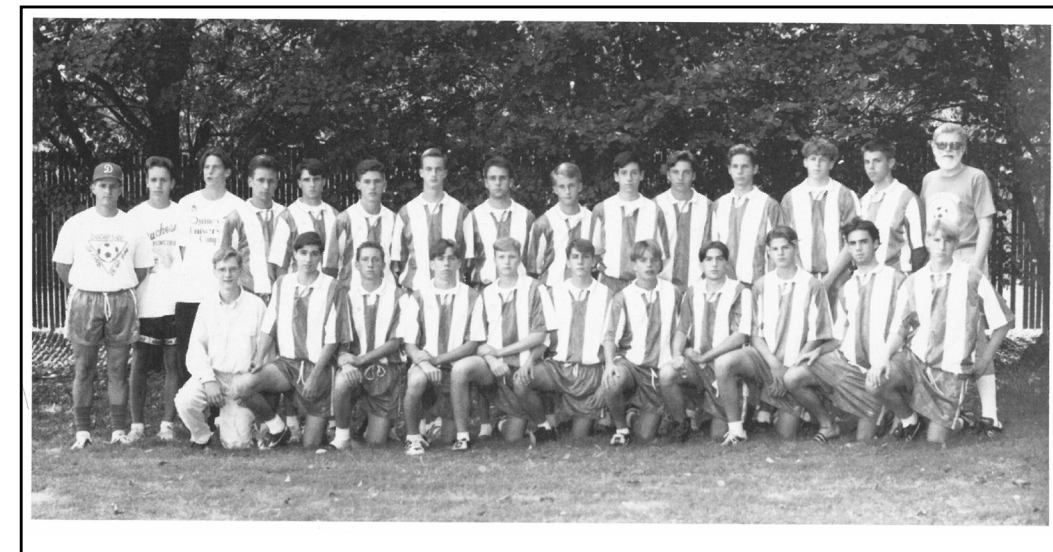

The story of the Garden Courtyard project does not end here. Additions that are in the works include more trees, benches, and possibly a greenhouse to enhance the students' educational experience.

It's an ever-evolving project. It shows how big a difference just one person's idea can make when paired with the love of Duchesne and the desire to make it the best it can be for generations of students to come. And if you ask Jen, it's only going to get better.

1994 Boys State Soccer Champions Celebration

Our October 18 Alumni Celebration featured the 30th anniversary of our 1994 Boys State Soccer Championship team, with more than half of the team making it back to join us, along with coaches Dave Thurmer from Vermont and Joe Toigo from Kansas City. (Fr. Gahan was out of town.) Players came from Kansas City, Chicago, Jeff City, and the St. Charles and St. Louis county areas. They were all so excited to be together again, and we were so excited to have them back with us at Duchesne!

This team's road to the championship included these milestones:

- Record of 8-0 in GAC conference play
- Defeated rival St. Dominic 1-0 in the district final
- Defeated nationally-ranked Aquinas Mercy 4-1 in the quarterfinal
- Defeated Kansas City O'Hare 7-0 in the semifinal
- Defeated second-ranked St. Mary's 2-1 in the championship
- Season total of 95 goals, allowing only 22 goals in 30 games
- Overall record of 23-4-3
- 1st DHS soccer state championship team
- 1st state soccer title won by a school outside of St. Louis City/County since the inception of the state soccer tournament in 1969

We received great feedback from the employers who attended, on both how the day went and how engaged and prepared our students were.

We look forward to many career days to come!

WATNow? CAREER PATH SPEAKER SERIES

What an exciting fall athletic season it has been, filled with fun and unforgettable moments at our athletic events!

We had the honor of welcoming back the 1994 State Champion soccer team on October 18, celebrating their incredible legacy and achievements prior to the varsity soccer game. Our junior cheer night followed by Diamondline Swiftie night at this Friday night lights game brought even more energy to the field, creating a fun atmosphere for all.

We've been treated to amazing performances of the Star Spangled Banner by our talented Band and Choir members. The halftime shows featured our Pioneer Marching Band, as well as the Cheer and Diamondline squads, keeping the crowd entertained throughout the season.

CELEBRATING SUCCESS

State Champion Golf Team

A huge congratulations to our State Champion Golf Team, who clinched the Class 1 Team Championship with an impressive score of 374, finishing 12 strokes ahead of the second-place team. The Pioneers showcased exceptional talent, led by our All-State first-team seniors: Maddie Denker (4th place) and Reagan Potts (13th place). Alongside them were: sophomore Leah Krupich (18th), senior Katie Stockhausen (39th), and sophomore Bridget Caldwell (55th). We also want to recognize and thank coaches Denny Walters and JT Taylor for their dedication to the girls golf team.

Girls Volleyball Team

Our girls volleyball team also made us proud, winning the Class 2 District 5 Championship. They put up a strong effort in the sectional round before losing to a tough Hermann squad.
